

GERMAN DRIVE ON VERDUN HALTED

(Associated Press Cable)

London, March 1. — The German offensive against Verdun, which brought the Crown Prince's armies up to the inner line of French defenses, has halted there, according to today's official statement from Paris.

The lull, which gave signs yesterday of setting in now extends along virtually the entire front where the desperate struggles of the past week have been going on.

There were no important developments at any point during the night, the French War Office reports.

Apparently the recent German attack in the Champagne was nothing more than one of the numerous local operations such as the Germans carried out in several sectors of the front, from time to time, in the three weeks preceding the Verdun offensive, as it has not been followed up so far.

Dispatches indicate opinions of military observers that the German offensive, if it is broadened, would be more likely to spread to the south than to the north, the many signs of activity along the lines in upper Alsace and down the Swiss border being pointed to in this connection.

Paris dispatches declare the situation north of Verdun satisfactory to the French, who have strongly fortified their positions along the seven-mile front where the German pressure has been heaviest.

At Douaumont, several hundred Germans are reported still cut off in the fort which the French have surrounded.

Today marks the opening of the new German submarine campaign, in which armed merchantmen are to be considered as warships and treated accordingly.

A report that the British steamer Thornaby, of 1,782 tons, had been sunk came this morning, but the dispatch did not reveal whether the reported sinking occurred before or after the new order became effective; or whether the vessel was armed.

In the Italian Parliament, which reassembles today, it is expected that the question of a declaration of war by Italy against all the foes of the entente powers will be brought up. Italy has never declared war on Germany.

Today is the last day for voluntary enlistment in Great Britain, the compulsion measure hereafter being effective.

It is reported that a considerable number of recruits have presented themselves during the past few days, but there has been no overwhelming rush to volunteer.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR WARNING BILL VOTE

Executive Makes It Clear That He Does Not Desire Vote Expressing Confidence in His Policy.

Defeat Awaits Resolution.

No Further Discussion With Germany Will Take Place Until All Danger of Embarrassment in Congress Is Removed

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson, in conference today with congressional leaders, made it plain that he does not want a vote on a resolution expressing support of his foreign policy, but that he does desire a vote on the resolution warning Americans off armed ships.

Administration forces assume that they can beat the latter resolution, and in beating it they expect to bring the armed ship agitation in Congress to a close; and with a demonstration of unity, convince Germany that the American Congress stands behind the foreign policy of the government.

It is planned to bring the resolution out first on the floor of the House, and to that end Chairman Flood of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, to be called at a meeting of the House at sometime this afternoon.

At this meeting the resolution will be framed. The Rules Committee will bring in a rule for discussion and a vote on the resolution.

Congressional leaders who last predicted that a warning resolution would pass by a big majority are silent today.

Speaker Clark said he did not know the sentiment of the House and refused to say how he would vote.

Republicans are said to be as divided as the Democrats.

Washington, March 1. — German latest assurances on the conduct of submarine warfare, presented Monday by Count von Bernstorff to Secretary Lansing, are not so broad as the United States desires; but it is indicated no further steps will be taken by this government until the administration is certain its action will not be embarrassed by Congress.

The assurances reiterated in the latest communication are regarded as not so complete as those originally given as the result of the Lusitania negotiations, and it was indicated today that the pending Lusitania agreement would not be finally accepted as satisfactory at this time.

Officials were represented as feeling that if the German government took the position that it could modify or change the first assurances at will, there was nothing to prevent an attempt to change the latest assurances, and that they do not intend to agree with such procedure.

It was said that the next step would be taken as soon as the situation in Congress was clarified.

Officials expect the Administration will find itself in a position to continue the negotiations within the next few days.

House leaders today drafted for consideration of the House a measure proposing that Congress express confidence in the President's handling of the armed merchantmen controversy, and recognize that it is not a matter of legislative but of executive concern.

Chairman Flood of the Foreign Affairs Committee sought to bring Democrats in line on the measure to be reported out of his committee, and also sought ineffectually to get assurances of Republican co-operation.

BURTON'S NAME IS WITHDRAWN IN NEBRASKA

(By Associated Press Dispatch.)

Lincoln, Neb., March 1. — Former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, in a letter received by the Secretary of State, asked that his name be withdrawn as a candidate at the Nebraska primaries for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Burton said the petition was filed without his knowledge.

FIRE MARSHALS MAKE A DRAG

(By Associated Press Dispatch.)

Newark, O., March 1. — State fire marshals here today arrested A. O. Kern, wealthy business man, on a charge of arson.

It is alleged Kern hired Arthur Grubb to set fire to Kern's hotel on January 6, 1914.

Five persons were burned to death in the fire, while more than a score were injured seriously.

Grubb, who was taken into custody yesterday, is alleged to have confessed that Kern paid him $100 to set fire to the place.

Grubb was employed as a night clerk in the hotel.

DEFENSES AT SUEZ CANAL

(Associated Press Cable)

Cairo, Egypt, March 1. — Egypt is still very much in the dark as to what is going on along its frontier. Rumors of the most sensational kinds are circulated, but there can be no doubt that the military authorities are running no risks as far as the defense of the Canal is concerned.

The Canal Zone was long ago made a restricted area in the most restricted military sense. Any person desiring to travel by railway to any station within the Canal Zone is required to obtain a special permit which is only obtainable after searching inquiries on the part of the military officials. The permit may be either temporary—for one trip only—or permanent—for such as require to pay frequent visits to Port Said or Suez for business reasons. Any permit is revocable on the instant at the will of the officials.

In many ways the Canal Zone is ideal for defensive purposes. The railway runs along the west bank of the Canal from Port Said for sixty or seventy miles. There has been intense activity throughout the entire canal belt throughout the winter.

Officials of the union have just concluded a two days' conference with the company officials.

ASSAIL FRENCH LINES ON THE WOEVRE PLAIN

Germans Report Capture of Six Villages.

WOULD CUT OFF VERDUN

Successes in the Woivre Give the Teutons Possession at Several Points of the Railroad Running North and South Five Miles East of Verdun—Inactivity On the Northern Battle Front.

London, March 1.—An official statement issued at Berlin states that the German assault against Verdun has centered itself in the past twenty-four hours in an attack on the French line on the Woivre plain, to the east of the fortress. Here the Germans have taken Dille, Abacourt, Blanche, Watronville, Manheulles and Champlon.

These successes give the Germans possession of the line along the road extending from Dille south to Champlon, not only pushing the line in from the east and southeast, thus taking important steps toward cutting off the fortress of Verdun, but gives the Germans possession at several points on the railroad running north and south five miles east of Verdun, a gain of great value to the continued strength of the St. Mihiel salient in the German line.

The Germans captured one point on the road, Elix, at the foot of the Cotes de Lorraine, on Sunday, but lost it again that night. Manheulles and Fresnes were attacked also on Sunday, but were able to repulse the assaults. Manheulles now has fallen, and Fresnes, although still holding out, has been practically surrounded. Fresnes is an important highway center, and also possesses the Verdun-Commercy railroad.

On the northern Verdun front there was no activity, although the Germans resumed without success their violent attacks in the region of Douaumont. After they had been driven back in hand to hand encounters with the French troops in this region, the Germans appear to have abandoned for the time being their attempts to push this northern line further toward the fortress until more support was obtained from the east. On the north of the slopes of the Cote du Polvre the Germans are falling back.

Besides announcing the gains on the eastern Verdun front, the statement issued by the office at Berlin said that the number of unwounded prisoners taken in the Verdun fighting has been increased to 22 British officers and 16,575 men. Seven heavy guns, 71 lighter guns and 86 machine guns also have been captured.

HERE'S A SAMPLE AND THE RESULT

The Average Louisiana farmer gets up early, at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, buttons his Chicago suspenders to Detroit overalls, puts on a pair of cowhide shoes made in Ohio, washes in a Pittsburg tin basin, using Cincinnati soap, and dries on a cotton towel made in New Hampshire; sits down to a Grand Rapids table, eats hot biscuits made with Minneapolis flour, Kansas City bacon, and Indiana grits fried in Omaha lard, cooked on a St. Louis stove; buys Irish potatoes grown in Michigan and canned fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices; claps on his old wool hat made in Philadelphia, puts New York harness on a Missouri mule, fed on Iowa corn and plows his farm, covered with a Massachusetts mortgage, with an Indiana plow.

"At night he crawls under a New Jersey blanket and is kept awake by a Louisiana dog, the only home product on the place, and wonders why he keeps so poor."

MORAL.—Patronize home industries, spend your money where it will give you a market for what you grow, and thus make money and increase the value of your farm. This is public spirit and the highest form of Patriotism.

RURAL CARRIER EXAM. ANNOUNCED

As a result of the recent resignation of C. W. Roler, carrier of Rural Mail Route No. 6, out of this city, and the resignation of Claude Andrew, of Route No. 2, Bloomingburg, the United States Civil Service Commission has arranged for an examination in this city to be held March 25, 1916, to fill the vacancies and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in Fayette county.

The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

"MOVIN' TIME" IS AT HAND ONCE MORE

"Movin' time" is here. March first is generally conceded and almost universally observed as the time when tenants move to newly leased farms, and already this change is well under way, although in many instances has been greatly retarded by the condition of the public roads.

Within the next two weeks virtually all spring moving will have taken place, and the tenants will settle down in their new homes.

CONDITION OF ROADS IMPROVING

The condition of the county highways is very much improved since the cessation of the rain and the return of freezing weather.

Most of the water has disappeared and the roads are being worn down in most places so that they are fairly passable, although the deep scars are still apparent, and return of rainy weather is expected to see them in very bad condition again.

"BIG BERTHA" WINS BATTLE FOR TEUTONS

Grand Finale of Sunday School Basket Ball League a Delight to Many—Baptists Overwhelmed By the Teutonic All Stars in Fast Game.

Nearly 70 persons enjoyed the banquet of the Sunday school basket ball league, held at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening, and a large crowd witnessed the defeat of the Baptists at the hands of the German All Stars in one of the best basket ball games of the season.

The banquet was one long to be remembered by those who enjoyed it. Mr. W. W. Hamilton, president of the league, was master of the ceremonies, and a number of interesting toasts followed the banquet, after which all partook of grape juice from the loving cup which each team had sought to win. A "German Band" led the Germans on to the field of battle.

Just before the game the loving cup was presented and then the battle was on, with Captains Petersen and Schlabach eager for the fray, and Haines, of Bloomingburg, refereeing.

The first half was closely contested by each side, and at the close of the half the Teutons had 17 and the Baptists 14.

To second half was full of tip-top plays on the part of some of the Germans, but when Schlabach, the "Big Bertha" of the Teutonic forces once got the range, he hurled ball after ball among the ranks of the Baptists, who were so demoralized that only 22 points were made while the Teutons boosted their 17 points up to 46. Schlabach playing a star game and making 24 of the 46 points. Johnson played a star game for the Baptists.

The line ups were—Baptists: Smith and Smith, forwards; Johnson, center and Peterson and Willis, guards.

German All Stars—Forwards, Schlabach and Hays; center, Sturgeon; Guards, Burnett, Patton and Strevey.

The "Bums" and "Roughnecks" also played a game, the Roughnecks winning and the score standing 25 to 20. Baker refereed this game. The game was a little the roughest some of the spectators had witnessed for sometime.

The "Battles of a Nation," which will be presented in Washington, D. C., under the auspices of The Herald, for one day, Saturday, March 4th, at The Empire theater, 10 and 20 cents admission, shows the vast stretches of battlefields and the horrors and havoc wrought by mammoth cannon and rifle fire.

The battlefields of Przemyśl, Lemberg, Warsaw, East Prussia and the Carpathian Mountains, are shown while millions of men were engaged in the conflict. In the bombardment of Warsaw, the pictures show the result of the heavy artillery fire and the subsequent invasion of the city by the German army. Thousands of the enemy are made prisoners, while the roads are filled with refugees fleeing from the fated city—a panic stricken people—many of whom drove their live stock ahead of the terrified throng.

The Departure of Diaz

If the alarming surmises regarding the rather precipitate departure of General Felix Diaz from New Orleans Monday, for Cuba, should prove to be, to any considerable extent, correct then the United States is in for another era, during which turmoil, lawlessness and anarchy in Mexico will be patiently watched.

Felix Diaz is a nephew of the former president and dictator of Mexico, who for nearly a score of years ruled with an iron hand and maintained order, something that no one has accomplished since his overthrow by the Madero revolution. Closely allied with Huerta in all his intrigues and plots against the Madero regime, Felix Diaz has been, since the appearance of the figure of the old Indian, Huerta, on the horizon as a dominant figure in Mexico, quite prominent in Mexican disorders.

So far he has demonstrated no particular force as a leader of men and has shone more by the reflection of his powerful uncle than as a result of any achievements of his own.

Alarmists report that Diaz will go at once to Oaxaca, the only Mexican state which holds aloof from the Carranza de facto government, where a large armed force will be placed at his disposal. With that force as a nucleus it is prophesied that he will soon rally to his support an army of more than twenty-five thousand men, mostly Indians, and lead a revolt against Carranza.

Judging from the past record of Diaz, the predictions as to his future seem to be founded more on the fear of those who want permanent peace in Mexico and upon the hopes of his followers who would enrich themselves at the expense of the Mexican people, than upon any substantial basis.

It is impossible, though, to foretell what may happen in Mexico. General "Felix" may be used as a figure head by deeper and more designing men to lead a new revolution. With a great many Mexicans, especially the more influential classes, the name "Diaz" is a power and the departure from the United States of the nephew of the old time ruler may mark the beginning of more serious trouble in the stricken and south of the Rio Grande.

Russia's New Trouble

A new problem has arisen to plague Russia. Last summer the armies of the Czar suffered cruelly from a lack of arms and ammunition. After having forced their way by dint of real fighting and genuine generalship, far into Prussia and Austria, the Russian troops were compelled to retreat until all the captured ground had been lost and until Russian Poland and great sections of Russia proper as far east as Riga had fallen into the hands of the central powers.

Experts attributed these retreats and the loss of these vast stretches of territory to the lack of arms and ammunition.

Russia, since the retreats of last summer began, has been using every means to prevent a recurrence of disasters on that account. Japan and America were contracted with to and the much needed ammunition and arms. Contracts, the amount of which challenge the imagination have been placed and now the goods contracted for are arriving at Vladivostok, Russia's main seaport, in such quantities that they cannot be taken care of. News reports tell us that from fifty to twenty-five vessels are at anchor in the icy harbor of Vladivostok waiting to be unloaded. The inability of the government to handle the supplies is costing the Russians tremendous sums, sometimes as much as fifteen hundred dollars a day on single vessels.

The great trans-Siberian railroad is not equipped to rush supplies to the armies in the field. Indeed, it cannot take more of its own contracted for equipment. One American firm is contracted to and has built four hundred locomotives but is only able to deliver fifty. The warehouses and docks are crowded to much more than capacity and still the vessels wait to be unloaded while others are arriving. Russia's very immensity seems to be proving one of her greatest handicaps in this war.

Poetry For Today

THE BRAVE AND TRUE
Oh! Brave and true! You who can march away
With measured tread, beneath your colors gay;
Feeling the warmth of kiss so lately pressed,
The throb of loving heart against your breast;
Knowing not what may be your dole of pain
Before those clinging arms draw close again.
Hark! The drum rolls, the trumpet blares its call,
Forward! forget! forget, oh heart! thy all!

Oh! Brave and true! You who can crouch so still
In ambush there below the beetling hill;
The soft breeze stirs your hair and fills your eyes,
As slow you raise them to the darkening skies.
What horrors grip you, that your latest breath
May swift be choked in the fierce clutch of death!
Wild love of life hot surges through your brain,
When home—low—all, are blotted out in pain.

Oh! Brave and true, who lie beneath the sky,
Your anguish over, drawn your last deep sigh;
No more shall cannon smoke hot sear your eyes,
While rolling thunder drowns your dying cries.
No more shall feverish torture fill the brain,
And wasted hand clutch the hot brow in vain;
So still you lie, bathed in the moon's cool light,
On the field's breast, blood-drenched and dim with night!

Oh! Brave and true, you who can love and give,
And far away must only blindly live,
Through wide black days of agony and fear,
In chill dark nights too deep for sob or tear;
Hours, days, nights, weeks, dumb-stricken in your woe,
As mutely through your homely tasks you go,
Each sound swift chills your blood—
Oh! Woman, you,
You—Wives and Mothers, are the brave and true!
—H. C. Baker, in the The People's Home Journal.

FRENCH SHIP SUNK

Nearly a Thousand Persons Believed to Have Perished.

Paris, March 1.—The transatlantic liner La Provence, which has been used as a French auxiliary liner since the outbreak of the war, was sunk in the Mediterranean with a loss of about 930 lives. The announcement of the loss of the big liner, which was known as "The Queen of the Seas," before the coming of the Lusitania and Mauretania, was made by the minister of marine. It was also stated that there were about 1,800 persons on board the ship at the time of the sinking and 870 of these are known to have been saved. About 400 of these have been landed on the Greek island of Melos and 295 have been landed at Malta.

The cause of the sinking of the big vessel is unknown, as the statement of the minister of marine merely stated that she was sunk. Submarines of the central powers have been active recently in the Mediterranean, however, and it is possible that a torpedo ended the career of La Provence. The sinking is said to have occurred far out in the sea. It is probable the vessel was carrying troops to Salonica or transporting soldiers on sick leave far from home.

Cleveland, March 1.—The first leap year couple were married free by Justice W. J. Zoul. The bride was Miss Millie Forester, twenty-five, of Columbus, and Arthur Reynolds, twenty-four, of this city. "I proposed to Arthur Monday night," said Miss Forester. "I thought he was afraid to 'pop the question,' so I did it for him."

Cape Town once lived under so severe a code of sumptuary laws that anything like display was restricted to the governor and his immediate circle. Thus runs article 6 of the Dutch laws against luxury and ostentation: "No one less in rank than a junior merchant and those among the citizens of equal rank and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas." In practice this restricted the possession and use of umbrellas to about fifty persons in Cape Town.

A KNOCKOUT FOR "OLD 'UNS"

(By American Press)

Chicago, March 1.—In the bitterest and most hotly contested aldermanic primaries in Chicago in many years, Mayor William Hale Thompson was unsuccessful in his efforts to defeat the "rebel nine," which has fought him at every turnout of the city council. The mayor was elected eleven months ago by a plurality of 147,000 votes. He won yesterday in only two of the nine wards in which he had mobilized the full forces of the city hall to fight Republican aldermen who were running for reform.

Sweeping victories for Roger Sullivan's followers marked the contests in the Democratic primaries. The Sullivan candidates were nominated over the Dunne-Harrison forces in 27 of the 35 wards. The election was marked by many brawls and riot calls from the river wards especially were numerous.

LOCAL MEN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF CATTLE

Reward of $200 Offered for Apprehension of Men Who Stole Four Cattle Near Bainbridge Last November, Leads to Indictment of Sam Whited and Miles Holly — Mystery Still Surrounds Theft.

Acting upon advice received from the Sheriff of Pike county, Chief of Police D. L. Moore Tuesday night arrested Sam Whited, white, and Miles Holly, colored, of this city, and Wednesday morning the men were taken to Waverly to answer to indictments charging grand larceny the charge growing out of the disappearance of four head of cattle from the Cameron Sisters' place, near Bainbridge, on the 20th day of last November.

For the past three months detectives and police officers of a number of cities have been working on the case, and it is understood that Attorney Lee Rankin and Chief of Police D. L. Moore have obtained the bulk of the evidence in the case, although at the present time they decline to discuss the matter.

The cattle in question were stolen from the Cameron Sisters who had the animals on pasture on the W. M. Ferneau farm, and when no trace of them could be found, the women offered $200 reward for the "arrest and conviction of the party securing or disposing of these cattle."

One of the animals was a four-year-old cow, one a three-year-old heifer and the other two were two-year-old steers. They were black Angus, and were last seen in the pasture of M. W. Ferneau on the 20th of November.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION MEETS MONDAY

Fayette county Ministerial Association will go to Jeffersonville next Monday, March 6th, for the regular monthly meeting.

The meeting will be a two session meeting, forenoon and afternoon. Rev. Brittan of Columbus will address the forenoon meeting after which Mr. S. C. Morrow of Jeffersonville will deliver an address.

At the afternoon meeting the prayer life of the minister will be discussed by S. C. Kerr of Bloomington, after which a prayer meeting will be conducted by Evangelist B. F. McKinnon who is now conducting meetings in Jeffersonville.

All the ministers of the county are expected to attend as the association is expecting some important work to be planned and executed.

Trains run to and from Jeffersonville very conveniently, leaving here at 7:47 a. m. and returning at 7:14 p. m.

DEATH CLAIMS ROBERT OLINGER

Relatives and friends are learning with much regret of the death of Robert Olinger, a respected former Fayette county farmer residing on the Palmer pike.

For the past year Mr. Olinger has

The $200 reward offered started the police of many cities at work, and, obtaining evidence that cattle answering the description were seen near this city, and that it was claimed Miles Holly was driving the animals, Chief Moore and Mr. Rankin, the latter said to be representing the Cameron sisters of Bainbridge, made further search, with the result that when the grand jury met in Pike county a few days ago, both men went to Waverly. The indictment followed.

Mr. Whited claims innocence of the charge, and has retained Gregg, Patton & Gregg to represent him, Mr. Pope Gregg accompanying him to Waverly. Bond was offered in this city in large amount.

Holly obtained Attorneys Troy Junk and J. T. Oatneal to represent him, while Rankin & Rankin will assist in prosecuting the case.

It is claimed that Holly does not deny that he drove cattle answering the description, but does deny that he stole any cattle, or had guilty knowledge of any such deal.

It is not known whether the stolen cattle were sold in this city, slaughtered here, or shipped from Bloomington to Pittsburg.

Mystery still surrounds the alleged connection of Mr. Whited with the missing cattle.

It is rumored, in connection with the affair, that other indictments or arrests may occur, and that the matter is liable to take a decidedly sensational turn within the next few days. For this reason those who are in possession of the facts, or alleged facts, will make no statement at the present time.

When arraigned before the Court in Pike county, the men intended entering pleas of not guilty.

been in wretched health and during the winter has been confined to his home. The death summons came shortly after three o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Olinger was 57 years old and is survived by a wife and eight children; George, residing in Millwood; Carl, in Columbus; Mrs. Henry Engle, southwest of town and Roy, Ima, Wilbur, Homer and Opal at home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m., at the Mt. Olive church. Burial will be made in the Bloomington cemetery.

PARENT-TEACHER CLUB ORGANIZED

A Parents-Teachers Club for the Central Schools was organized at a meeting held in the High School auditorium, Tuesday night, the following officers being chosen:

President, Geo. H. Hitchcock; vice president, Mrs. Herbert Brownell; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Corda McCafferty. Dr. C. W. Soddors, Dr. Neil B. Jines and Miss Clara Haines were appointed executive committee and are preparing for a rousing meeting on March 22, to which all parents and teachers in the city are invited.

A charming program was rendered Tuesday night, by Miss Teeters' pupils.

The Fourth Wednesday night of each month is to be the regular meeting night.

Tonight all parents and teachers are invited to attend the Cherry Hill meeting. Supt. McClain and Dr. C. W. Soddors will speak.

PEARL STREET WILL BE OPENED IN NEAR FUTURE

AS a result of a decision handed down by the Court of Appeals, the city will soon begin condemnation proceeding against the B. & O. railroad to obtain a grade crossing over the B. & O. tracks at Pearl street.

The Appellate court sustained the decision of the Common Pleas court, which held that the city was entitled to a crossing at Pearl street.

It will be recalled that the city filed action to obtain consent of the court for a grade crossing, and when the court decided in favor of the city, the Railroad carried the case up on error. The appellate court found that the finding of the lower court were findings of fact and not reviewable.

No motion for a new trial having been made by the Railroad company, the decision of the appellate court is final.

The next step will be condemnation proceedings so that the price of the ground may be fixed by jury, and the crossing made accordingly. This will be done unless the railroad takes action which will not necessitate such proceedings.

Within the next few months the crossing will, in all probability, be in use.

MORE TERRITORY IS TRANSFERRED

Gamble and West Holland Sub-Districts Are Now Part of New Holland School District—Board to Reorganize March 18.

The chief argument before the County Board of Education, Tuesday afternoon when that body met in regular monthly session, was the transfer of the Gamble and West Holland school districts to New Holland school district and after much argument for and against the proposal, the transfer was made by four to one vote.

T. T. Turner, of the Marion county board of education, was opposed to the plan unless Marion township schools were centralized, in such case he thought the transfer would then be practical. Geo. Kirk argued strongly for the transfer, and the transfer was made accordingly, being the fourth or fifth transfer of school territory made from Fayette county to adjoining counties.

This action removed Mr. Turner from the county board, of which he was a member, by reason of being president of the Marion Township Board.

The appointment of H. T. Hughes to the vacancy caused by the removal of C. L. Anders then was made, the binding vote standing three for Hughes, one for one of the other District Superintendents, and one blank. The roll call on the proposal was unanimous. Hughes' time expires in August, 1917.

The board then adjourned until March 18th, when the reorganization of the board will occur.

BROWNELL ELECTED STATE PRESIDENT

At the fourth annual convention of the Ohio Butter, Egg and Poultry Producers' Association, held in Cleveland, Tuesday, Herbert Brownell, of this city, was elected president of the association for the coming year. C. J. Moore of Cleveland was elected vice president, and O. I. Clevenger, of Mariin was chosen secretary-treasurer. About 150 members of the association attended the meeting.

A new preserving process for keeping eggs in splendid condition was exhibited before the association, and is expected to revolutionize the keeping of eggs.

Eggs treated under the new process last April were broken and examined, and were in an almost perfect state of preservation.

TABERNACLE SERVICES

There was much interest at the Sunnyside Tabernacle meetings Tuesday night. After a spirited song service and a beautiful solo, "Face to Face" by Miss Daisy Cockerill, Evangelist Willhite preached a sermon on "The Funeral of the Soul."

Following an exhortation urging people to start on the new life twelve came forward, increasing the total number to 825.

It was announced that Rev. John

There will be song service at two p. m. and preaching at 2:30 and song service and preaching Sunday night.

INTEREST DEEPENS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Tuesday night meeting at the First Presbyterian church was marked by growing interest and several were received into the church at the close of the service.

Rev. Shaw threw himself with power into one of the strongest sermons of his series, his text, Matt. 1:21. Thou shalt call his name Jesus for he shall save his people from their sins.

The greatness of man is wonderfully depicted in the 8th psalm. Man will bear contrast with anything but God. He is great in God's consideration of him. God is always represented as knocking at the door of man's heart for admission. Even in ruins he shows something of his former greatness and glory.

In speaking of man as a great sinner, Dr. Shaw said:

"If man is a big sinner there is a big salvation provided for him. Wesley facing the mob with the blood flowing down his face, Luther at the Diet of Worms daring the cruelty of Medaeval Rome, attests it. The cross of Christ in this grand old book is the only hope of the world."

In Social Circles

The art department, Mrs. Frances Junk chairman, put on a splendid Browning club program Tuesday night.

It was introduced by a very attractive number, Miss Roxie Stinson singing, to her own accompaniment, the popular Irish song, "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Mrs. P. J. Henness gave an intensely interesting talk on "National Parks," a number of which she has personally visited.

There are 14 of these parks west of the Rockies; one park in the very heart of these mountains. Mrs. Henness made particularly graphic her description of Yellowstone National Park, with its wonderful geyser fields, pools of boiling water; scenic beauties and wild animals roaming at large.

There are 28 active geysers, beautiful in color and form, and the pools of boiling water show colors of wonderful iridescent tints, changing greatly when but a few feet apart.

The "Old Faithful Inn," made from natural wood of the "Knotty forest," is one of the many places of special interest.

The club was indebted to Mrs. Jesse Blackmer for one of the finest papers of the year on "The Panama-Pacific exposition," which she visited.

Mrs. Blackmer gave a magnificent description of the palaces of the exposition, located on the bay of San Francisco and resembling a city on the Mediterranean. The Horticultural building of the French, Renaissance in style; the Festival hall, in French theater design; the Tower of Jewels, set with 102,000 movagems; The Palace of Fine Arts, built in the form of a semi-circle, separated from the other buildings by a lagoon—all added to the picturesque and foreign effect.

Mrs. Blackmer laid stress upon the great beauty of the coloring, old Ivory, simulating Travertine marble; as a background for Nile green, dull orange, pastel reds and cerulean blue in the light domes.

The soft mellowed shades of the buildings formed with the green of the grass, the blue of sky and bay, the bright flowers, a marvelous picture.

All nations, even the warring ones exhibited, but the most unusual thing about the exposition was its profit of two million dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dahl entertained at a six o'clock dinner of perfect appointments Tuesday night.

The table was a picture, a very beautiful water garden, its flowers a variety of exquisite pastel shades, the center piece amidst sparkling silver and crystal candles gleaming beneath rose colored shades.

The dinner was an elaborate affair of numerous courses and the favors quite unique.

Mrs. Dahl, a particularly charming and gracious hostess, was wearing a handsome gown of gray charmeuse, with transparent sleeves and trimming of point lace and silver.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hitecock, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rogers, Dr. Lucy Pine, Miss Mary Craig, Misses Gertrude and Edith Gardner, Miss Minnie Light, Mr. E. J. Light.

Miss Lel Lanum was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the meeting of the Cecilian club.

Mrs. Lona G. Hughey introduced a very attractive program with two beautiful soprano solos, (a) "The Star;" (b) "At Parting," James Rodgers.

Miss Jessie Leavell sang "Santa Marie," Saure, effectively and Mrs. Mary Burgetts contralto showed to advantage in "Mid Summer Dreams"—Guy d' Hardelot.

There were two sparkling piano numbers—Miss Mable Briggs playing "Gondoliers," Moritd Moszkowski; and Miss Light, Op-9-No. 2 Polish Dance—Scharwenka.

Mrs. Minsie W. Shoop and Mrs. Margaret Stitt accompanied the singers.

Miss May Millikan and Miss Marie Lanum were guests.

The Cecilians expect to give a complimentary recital at the First Baptist church in the near future.

Mr. Roy B. Williams, formerly of this city, and now a prominent attorney of Athens, was united in marriage to Miss Byard Van McConihay of Pittsburg, Pa., on December the sixteenth, the marriage announced for the first time this week.

The announcement will be of interest to Mr. Williams' many friends in this city.

The Daughters of Rebekah are planning to give a Leap Year St. Patrick's dance at the I. O. O. F. Hall on March the ninth.

The second recital of the spring series was given Tuesday afternoon at Conservatory Hall by Louise Fennor, Dorothy Dunlap and Dorothy Donohoe; Marjorie Sparks being prevented by illness from taking part.

True piano work, careful rhythm and poise were the marked features of the renditions of the little pupils.

Ralph Lloyd, Dorothy Post and Helen Lemmons varied the hour with songs and readings, after which interested friends enjoyed a merry hour.

The next recital will be given Tuesday, March 14th, by Ralph Lloyd.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church will hold a market at Hugh's confectionery next Saturday. All kinds of home made eatables will be on sale.

Changeable Weather Brings Sickness

The changeable weather of March causes coughs, colds, croup, and grippe. There is no such thing as a "light cold"—none that a person can safely neglect. REQUESTS A VOTE ON RESOLUTIONS

Wilson Asks Congress to Take Up Submarine Issue.

WRITES A LETTER TO POW

President Declares That Reports of Division Among Solons In Regard to the Administration's Foreign Policy Is Being Made Use of In European Capitals—Note Held a Challenge to Congress.

Washington, March 1.—In a letter to the chairman of the rules committee of the house, President Wilson virtually asks the house for a vote of confidence.

The president urges an early vote on the resolutions now pending which warn Americans from traveling on armed merchant vessels.

The president in this letter declares that "the report that there are divided counsels in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals." He expresses the belief that the report is false, and adds that "so long as it is anywhere credited it can not fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks."

The president thus has thrown down every barrier against the public discussion of foreign affairs in congress, and has in fact invited a frank and full exchange of views on the administration's record. The challenge from the president will mark the opening of a debate in congress, which is likely to be one of the most spirited that has taken place in years.

What the outcome will be is now, of course, a matter of mere speculation, as many unexpected events may intervene to influence the sentiment of congress before the resolution is brought to a vote. At present, though, the administration is confident of victory in both houses of congress, and it seems fairly certain to unbiased observers that those who are opposing the administration will not be able to control a majority of votes in the senate, even if they succeed in pushing a resolution through the house. Speaker Clark and Leader Kitchin predicted last week that the house would vote two to one in favor of such legislation.

TILSON DELIVERS DEFENSE SPEECH

Says Country Is Sadly In Need of Guns and Munitions.

Washington, March 1.—"The entire capacity of the government for the manufacture of field artillery ammunition makes it possible to fire each gun every other day, or on an average of three times a week," was the comment by Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, a minority member of the committee on military affairs. In comparison with this prospective showing Mr. Tilson said that in the European war one gun has been fired as many as 1,000 times in a day.

The situation of the United States army regarding the supply of rifles was likewise described in startling terms by the Connecticut member. At the present rate of outfit, he said, the army of 1,000,000 men which William J. Bryan once suggested could be raised between sunrise and sunset could be equipped with rifles in about five years.

Mr. Tilson delivered a preparedness speech urging his bill providing that the government shall manufacture in large quantities the jigs, gauges and appliances used in making rifles, field pieces and projectiles. He recommended the storing of such machinery for use in war time, arguing that it would be immediately turned over to private factories, which would be equipped forthwith to turn out standard government rifles and ammunition.

BLOW STORE'S SAFE

Waverly, O., March 1.—A. B. Smith, Edward Collins and Harry DeCamp pleaded guilty to the charge of blowing the safe of the Scheutle store in Beaver on Jan. 24. Smith and Collins received indeterminate sentences

Wilson's Letter.

The president's letter follows:

My dear Mr. Pow:

Inasmuch as I learn that Mr. Henry, the chairman of the committee on rules, is absent in Texas, I take the liberty of calling your attention, as ranking member of the committee, to a matter of grave concern to the country, which can, I believe, be handled, under the rules of the house, only by that committee.

The report that there are divided counsels in Congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals. I believe that report to be false, but so long as it is anywhere credited it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks. I therefore feel justified in asking that your committee will permit me to urge an early vote upon the resolutions with regard to travel on armed merchantmen which have recently been so much talked about, in order that there may be afforded an immediate opportunity for full public discussion and action upon them and that all doubts and conjectures may be swept away and our foreign relations once more cleared of damaging misunderstandings.

The matter is of so grave importance and lies so clearly within the field of executive initiative that I venture to hope that your committee will not think that I am taking unwarranted liberty in making this suggestion as to the business of the house, and I very earnestly commend it to their immediate consideration.

Challenge to Congress.

In throwing down the challenge to congress President Wilson was actuated by the following considerations:

First, believing that a test of strength on this issue was inevitable sooner or later, the president selected the present as the most opportune time. He apparently felt that the administration's strength in congress on this issue would be greater now than on the verge of a possible crisis.

Second, charged with responsibility for the conduct of foreign affairs, the president desired an immediate decision as to whether he was to be left with a free hand in this matter, or whether his efforts were to be handicapped by further interference on the part of congress.

Third, the president decided that an immediate challenge was the only way to end the impression which the Berlin authorities have obtained that he lacks the support of the country in the conduct of his submarine negotiations.

The president has unwittingly complicated the situation by appealing to the rules committee for action. This committee can not act in the way the president desires without going over the head of the committee on foreign affairs of the house, before which the armed merchantmen resolutions are pending. The president's ignoring of the foreign affairs committee already has aroused resentment among the members of that committee.

NEGRO SEGREGATION

(By American Press)

St. Louis, March 1.—Ordinances providing for the segregation of negroes in separate blocks from the whites in St. Louis, voted on here, were carried by a vote of about 3 to 1. The total vote cast was nearly 75,000. Two ordinances were voted on, one providing that a white person or negro can not become a resident in a block occupied entirely by those of the opposite color. The other imposes the same restrictions on a block of 75 per cent of one color. The ordinance became effective in ten days unless an injunction is applied for, which is almost a certainty.

Fosteria, O., March 1.—Victor Gauthier, business agent of the Toledo Machinists' union, was here seeking an adjustment of the trouble which caused the Atlas Manufacturing company, manufacturers of automobile crank shafts, to lock out its employees. It is said that employees recently organized against the wishes of the company.

THE OFFICIAL GERMAN WAR PICTURES

Entitled "The Battles of a Nation."
THE MOTION PICTURE SCOOP OF THE WAR

If you like REAL things you will like "THE BATTLES OF A NATION," for never was anything MORE REAL than these war pictures EXCEPT WAR ITSELF.

The series of scenes in the actual battle zone are the last word in the screen. They are a complete triumph of the motion picture art.

'The Battles of a Nation' begin where all other war pictures thus far shown have left off.

It is not a picture made many, many months ago during maneuvers or taken from so-called weekly news films, but it is NEWSY in every respect. Its like has never been seen in Washington before—nor ever will be.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad, by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood Helen makes a spectacular double rescue of Storm, now a freight fireman, and of her father and his friends, Amos Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagrue, promoter, from a threatened collision between a passenger train and a runaway freight. Seagrue is employed by Storm and Capelle, his lawyer, interrupted by Helen while stealing General Holmes' survey plans of the cut-off line for the Tidewater, fatally wounding General Holmes and escape. Storm and Helen chase the murderers on a light engine and capture them. Spike has hidden the plans and manages to inform Seagrue where they are cached. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Seagrue helps Spike to break jail and uses him to set fire to a powder train hauled by Storm's engine. Helen saves Storm from a horrible death.

Her wits rapidly cleared. She snatched the photograph. Seagrue, opening the door, caught her, picture in hand. He walked forward pleased. It was not hard for Helen to counterfeited an embarrassment; nor was it in the least unbecoming to her. To Seagrue her look came like a burst of sunshine after many chilling storms. "What do you think of my construction headquarters?" he laughed.

Helen's gaze rested modestly on her table. She seemed to contemplate the picture with a quiet pleasure. Then she looked slowly up at Seagrue. "This doesn't show very much of the camp," she drawled the words the very least bit—"you are awfully busy over there, I suppose."

"Never too busy to welcome our friends. Come over sometime."

"What, to a construction camp?" asked Helen, feigning just enough amazement.

"Why not? Talk about Rhinelander's steam shovels! I'll show you shovels that can do everything but vote. Come on along."

For an effective moment she hesitated. "I couldn't possibly," she declared with decision, but she allowed a note of regret to linger an instant in the tone of her explanation and glanced around. "No one here, you know."

"Well but what time do you get off?" asked Seagrue feverishly. "Oh, not for a long time yet." His hopes were burgeoning fast. "See here, Helen; come over and take a camp dinner with me. Come, do. I'll show you what can be done without preparation."

She regarded him with an expression that indicated how completely such a proposal shocked her. She struggled an instant with the thought of it. Then she rejected the invitation; yet with enough indecision to invite a renewal. For the moment Helen was a heartless angler, and Seagrue deluded by vanity was unsuspectingly playing fish. Before he left—in the highest spirits he had known for many a day—he had, to his astonishment, secured Helen's promise to dine with him that night in camp. And at the appointed time she was ready.

The night was warm and a moon, rising full and into a clear sky, flooded the landscape. And after Helen's uneasiness at the strangeness of her situation had worn off, she was able throughout the trying hour with Seagrue in his hut to wear her mask of languid interest successfully. The table was served with surprising delicacies and a plentiful array of wines was in evidence. Yet, to an innocent intruder, a whole hour never went so slowly, nor was appetite ever more reluctant than that of Seagrue's guest. Though she went through the form of eating and assumed a carefree air, his food choked her. His wines she persistently declined; but that did not dismay Seagrue, who drank quite enough for two.

Where could the survey be, now? was the question recurring always to Helen's mind. Toward the close of the dinner, Seagrue, rising, unlocked his desk for a flask of Chartreuse. There, lying in the corner exactly where she had seen it, Helen again beheld the survey, a blue print beside it. Seagrue was pawky enough to close and lock the desk after he had taken the flask out. How, she asked herself, was she to get that desk open again?

Seagrue dismissed his serving man, and this did not allay Helen's uneasiness for herself. She did not want (To be continued)

UNDERSEA ORDER IS NOW IN FORCE

ANXIETY AT WASHINGTON

Attitude of the American Government Toward the New Policy of Germany and Austria Not Yet Determined. State Department Officials Awaiting Arrival of Appendices to the Berlin Memorandum.

Washington, March 1.—Results of the new Austro-German submarine campaign, launched last midnight, against armed merchant ships of the entente allies, are awaited by the American government with grave concern. Although under the new instructions Teutonic naval commanders are authorized to sink without warning all armed enemy merchantmen, they have been told to make sure if possible that no American citizens are aboard any ship attacked. Furthermore, in the latest communication regarding submarine warfare, Germany has assured the United States that the new orders are so formulated as to prevent the destruction of enemy liners "on account of their armament unless such armament is proved."

The attitude of the United States government toward the new policy of Germany and Austria has not been definitely determined. President Wilson discussed the subject in a conference with Secretary Lansing and then laid the German communication before his cabinet. Later it was said that because the all-important appendices to the German memorandum had been delayed in transit, the state department thus far was unable to determine whether claims set forward by Germany and Austria in justification of their course were sustained.

Meanwhile, if any American citizen is injured during the attack by a submarine on a merchant ship which does not and has no intention of using its armament otherwise than defensively, a grave situation will arise.

The United States stands at this time, as it has always done, for the right of American citizens to travel with safety on defensively armed ships. If the German contentions are sustained, however, and it is proved conclusively that a ship upon which an American may be injured, used defensive armament for purposes of offense, it is considered unlikely that this government will take any action.

MINERS WILL SCALE DOWN

Make First Concession at the New York Conference.

New York, March 1.—The United Mine Workers of America, who are endeavoring to negotiate a new wage contract for the soft coal fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, made their first material concession, offering to scale down their 10 per cent per ton increase for miners to approximately 6 per cent net on the mine run basis. In the western Pennsylvania territory, however, the net advance now asked by the miners amounts to about 12 per cent, as in that field the miners insist upon first raising the mine run rate to the Ohio basic price and then adding 5 per cent.

The 10 per cent increase asked for dead work and yardage and the 20 per cent advance for men employed by the day, have not yet been considered and probably will not be taken up until an agreement is reached on the mining rate.

The miners said after the meetings of the joint subcommittee of employers and employees that the new figures they have presented are rock-bottom prices and will not be reduced further. The new schedule offered by the miners would add 3 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and 5.39 cents in western Pennsylvania.

(By American Press)

Chicago, March 1.—The first presidential nomination by referendum has been inaugurated by the Socialist party. Voting begins today. By March 3 the ballots will have been cast and by March 10 the complete vote will be recorded in the headquarters of the party in Chicago. The following are candidates for the presidency: Allen L. Benson, Yonkers, N. Y.; Arthur L. E. Suer, Minot, N. D.; James H. Maurer, Reading, Pa. The candidates for nomination for vice president are: George H. Kirkpatrick, Newark, N. J., and Kate Richards O'Hare, St. Louis.

SOUNDS BAD

(By American Press)

Washington, March 1.—The inclusion in the rivers and harbors bill of a $700,000 appropriation for the improvement of the East river, New York, the only new project in the budget, caused the Republican members of the house rivers and harbors committee to file a minority report, alleging that this item represents "plain political favoritism." The report says no pressing emergency exists for the appropriation, "that politics and not preparedness is the cause of the exception in favor of the East river."

IN LOW GEAR FOR A WHILE

(By American Press)

Columbus, March 1.—Because congress may decide on some step that will have an important bearing on the wet and dry issue in Ohio, the meeting of the trustees of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league and the dry county chairmen, held here, adjourned without taking action on the question of submission for 1916. Instead resolutions were adopted which recited, among other things, congress has before it the proposal to submit national prohibition to the states. In the event congress submits such proposal, the entire strength of the temperance forces of Ohio will be engaged in the selection and election of a legislature this fall which will ratify the proposal. There were about 200 dry workers present.

GOOD HOPE INSTITUTE BIG SUCCESS

Eighteenth Annual Farmers' Institute and Corn Show, Ideally Successful and Instructive, Ends Under Most Happy Conditions.

The eighteenth annual Farmers' Institute, held in Wayne Hall, Good Hope, closed a two days' session of interest from start to finish, Tuesday night, with a splendid concert given by price's Orchestra assisted by Miss Esther Leland, reader.

The institute and corn show were both markedly successful and once more brought to the front the progressive activity of Good Hope farmers and their ability to do things.

The institute officers were: President, Frank E. Haines; vice president, Harve Smalley; Secretary, Hugh B. Sollars; Treasurer, Hugh Rodgers. Executive committee: Mrs. A. S. Stemler, Mrs. John Weade, Mrs. John York. Corn committee: Art B. Clifton, Jesse Blackmore, Russ B. McCoy, A. H. Taylor, Glenn Wilson.

The attendance of Tuesday was very large and the entire program moved off smoothly.

One of the most important features of the day was the passing of resolutions following a splendid talk by Mr. Frank M. Kennedy on the "Two Mill Road Levy." Mr. Kennedy so impressed the immense advantage to Wayne township which would result from the farmers co-operating with the county commissioners in improving roads and making their apportionment do double duty.

Resolutions were passed to that effect and a meeting will be held by Wayne township farmers in the near future to perfect plans for the most efficient method of co-operation.

State speakers J. W. Hammond and Frank Blackford took up the subjects of "Horse Feeding and the Business Farmer," in capable addresses.

Prof. T. H. Everhart made one of the finest talks of the institute on "The Mission of the Public School."

A notable feature of the session was the Single Tax discussion, which followed the address by Mr. E. W. Doty, ardent Single Tax advocate. Hon. Frank C. Parrett took up the cudgel against Mr. Doty and, always a fluent speaker, presented a logical train of argument, met by hearty applause which showed that the audience was with him.

Price's orchestra contributed to the afternoon program as well as in the evening's concert. Miss Esther Leland was most enthusiastically received, her varied and entertaining repertoire delighting her listeners.

The Women's program of Monday afternoon was highly interesting, with Mrs. Willison, the state speaker. Miss Helen McCoy, Miss Mary Holdren, gave attractive readings; Mrs. John York, a paper, and Miss Stella West, Misses Margaret Stemler and Jeanette Walker, beautiful piano numbers.

The art display, confined to work of the past year, was beautiful; two features of the domestic science the exhibits of Good Hope and Cisco schools and the children's work.

The state allowance was an assistance in offering premiums.

BREAKFAST GIVEN FOR YOUNGSTERS

Some fifteen youngsters who are attending the East End School and who for various reasons are in such needy circumstances that they have not had sufficient food to nourish them, and who have clothing barely sufficient to clothe them, are now receiving a light breakfast each morning before they enter upon their duties for the day.

The expense is being borne by the Browning Club, and from contributions generally.

Some idea of the work being done may be gleaned when it is known that a prominent citizen recently dropped into the room to see the youngsters get their breakfast, and one little girl, dressed in the poorest of poor wearing apparel, and with a decidedly hungry expression upon her bloodless face, stood near some tempting light rolls, and so hungry was she that time after time thepangs of hunger were so great that unconsciously she reached toward the rolls. However regard- loss of her eagerness for food, she would not touch the food until it was placed before her to eat.

ENVELOPING STRONGHOLD
(By American Press)

Berlin, March 1.—As the German lines are drawn tighter around Verdun the heavy German guns can wreck the citadel of Verdun, only four miles away, and sweep the bridges over the Meuse above the city itself.
The latter are important as they enable the French to keep and hold the south lines of Verdun. These guns also dominate the slopes of the Cote de Lorraine and make easier the German progress against the fortress from the east.
High water in the Meuse has made difficult co-operation between the forces on opposite banks of the river, but the German lines on the west bank are beginning to move forward under cover of heavy artillery fire.
The hills are lower than those on the east side of the river, but the fortress line of heavy batteries commands them. Dommont, on the east side, is 1,200 feet high and commands the entire surrounding region between the highest hill and the Verdun.

GERMAN DRIVE ON VERDUN HALTED

(Associated Press Cable)

London, March 1. — The German offensive against Verdun, which brought the Crown Prince's armies up to the inner line of French defenses, has halted there, according to today's official statement from Paris.

The lull, which gave signs yesterday of setting in now extends along virtually the entire front where the desperate struggles of the past week have been going on.

There were no important developments at any point during the night, the French War Office reports.

Apparently the recent German attack in the Champagne was nothing more than one of the numerous local operations such as the Germans carried out in several sectors of the front, from time to time, in the three weeks preceding the Verdun offensive, as it has not been followed up so far.

Dispatches indicate opinions of military observers that the German offensive, if it is broadened, would be more likely to spread to the south than to the north, the many signs of activity along the lines in upper Alsace and down the Swiss border being pointed to in this connection.

Paris dispatches declare the situation north of Verdun satisfactory to the French, who have strongly fortified their positions along the seven-mile front where the German pressure has been heaviest.

At Douaumont, several hundred Germans are reported still cut off in the fort which the French have surrounded.

Today marks the opening of the new German submarine campaign, in which armed merchantmen are to be considered as warships and treated accordingly.

A report that the British steamer Thornaby, of 1,782 tons, had been sunk came this morning, but the dispatch did not reveal whether the reported sinking occurred before or after the new order became effective; or whether the vessel was armed.

In the Italian Parliament, which reassembles today, it is expected that the question of a declaration of war by Italy against all the foes of the entente powers will be brought up. Italy has never declared war on Germany.

Today is the last day for voluntary enlistment in Great Britain, the compulsion measure hereafter being effective.

It is reported that a considerable number of recruits have presented themselves during the past few days, but there has been no overwhelming rush to volunteer.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR WARNING BILL VOTE

Executive Makes It Clear That He Does Not Desire Vote Expressing Confidence in His Policy.

Defeat Awaits Resolution.

No Further Discussion With Germany Will Take Place Until All Danger of Embarrassment in Congress Is Removed

ed Monday by Count von Bernstorff to Secretary Lansing, are not so broad as the United States desires; but it is indicated no further steps will be taken by this government until the administration is certain its action will not be embarrassed by Congress.

The assurances reiterated in the latest communication are regarded as not so complete as those originally given as the result of the Lusitania negotiations, and it was indicated today that the pending Lusitania agreement would not be finally accepted as satisfactory at this time.

Officials were represented as feeling that if the German government took the position that it could modify or change the first assurances at will, there was nothing to prevent an attempt to change the latest assurances, and that they do not intend to agree with such procedure. It was said that the next step would be taken as soon as the situation in Congress was clarified.

Officials expect the Administration will find itself in a position to continue the negotiations within the next few days.

House leaders today drafted for consideration of the House a measure proposing that Congress express confidence in the President's handling of the armed merchantmen controversy, and recognize that it is not a matter of legislative but of executive concern.

Chairman Flood of the Foreign Affairs Committee sought to bring Democrats in line on the measure to be reported out of his committee, and also sought ineffectually to get assurances of Republican co-operation.

BURTON'S NAME IS WITHDRAWN IN NEBRASKA

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Lincoln, Neb., March 1. — Former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, in a letter received by the Secretary of State, asked that his name be withdrawn as a candidate at the Nebraska primaries for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Burton said the petition was filed without his knowledge.

FIRE MARSHALS MAKE A DRAG

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Newark, O., March 1. — State fire marshals here today arrested A. O. Kern, wealthy business man, on a charge of arson.

It is alleged Kern hired Arthur Grubb to set fire to Kern's hotel on January 6, 1914.

Five persons were burned to death in the fire, while more than a score were injured seriously.

Grubb, who was taken into custody yesterday, is alleged to have confessed that Kern paid him $100 to set fire to the place.

Grubb was employed as a night clerk in the hotel.

DEFENSES AT SUEZ CANAL

(Associated Press Cable)

Cairo, Egypt, March 1. — Egypt is still very much in the dark as to what is going on along its frontier. Rumors of the most sensational kinds are circulated, but there can be no doubt that the military authorities are running no risks as far as the defense of the Canal is concerned.

The Canal Zone was long ago made a restricted area in the most restricted military sense. Any person desiring to travel by railway to any station within the Canal Zone is required to obtain a special permit which is only obtainable after searching inquiries on the part of the military officials. The permit may be either temporary—for one trip only—or permanent—for such as require to pay frequent visits to Port Said or Suez for business reasons. Any permit is revocable on the instant at the will of the officials.

In many ways the Canal Zone is ideal for defensive purposes. The railway runs along the west bank of the Canal from Port Said for sixty or seventy miles. There has been intense activity throughout the entire canal belt throughout the winter.

ASSAIL FRENCH LINES ON THE WOEVRE PLAIN

Germans Report Capture of Six Villages.

WOULD CUT OFF VERDUN

Successes in the Woivre Give the Teutons Possession at Several Points of the Railroad Running North and South Five Miles East of Verdun—Inactivity On the Northern Battle Front.

London, March 1.—An official statement issued at Berlin states that the German assault against Verdun has centered itself in the past twenty-four hours in an attack on the French line on the Woivre plain, to the east of the fortress. Here the Germans have taken Dippe, Abacourt, Blanzee, Watronville, Munheulles and Champlon.

These successes give the Germans possession of the line along the road extending from Dippe south to Champlon, not only pushing the line in from the east and southeast, thus taking important steps toward cutting off the fortress of Verdun, but gives the Germans possession at several points or the railroad running north and south five miles east of Verdun, a gain of great value to the continued strength of the St. Mihiel salient in the German line.

The Germans captured one point on the road, Eix, at the foot of the Cotes de Lorraine, on Sunday, but lost it again that night. Manheulles and Fresnes were attacked also on Sunday, but were able to repulse the assaults. Manheulles now has fallen, and Fresnes, although still holding out, has been practically surrounded. Fresnes is an important highway center, and also possesses the Verdun-Commercy railroad.

On the northern Verdun front there was no activity, although the Germans resumed without success their violent attacks in the region of Douaumont. After they had been driven back in hand to hand encounters with the French troops in this region, the Germans appear to have abandoned for the time being their attempts to push this northern line further toward the fortress until more support was obtained from the east. On the north of the slopes of the Cote du Poivre the Germans are falling back.

Besides announcing the gains on the eastern Verdun front, the statement issued by the office at Berlin said that the number of unwounded prisoners taken in the Verdun fighting has been increased to 22 British officers and 16,575 men. Seven heavy guns, 71 lighter guns and 86 machine guns also have been captured.

HERE'S A SAMPLE AND THE RESULT

"The Average Louisiana farmer gets up early, at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, buttons his Chicago suspenders to Detroit overalls, puts on a pair of cowhide shoes made in Ohio, washes in a Pittsburg tin basin, using Cincinnati soap, and dries on a cotton towel made in New Hampshire; sits down to a Grand Rapids table, eats hot biscuits made with Minneapolis flour, Kansas City bacon, and Indiana grits fried in Omaha lard, cooked on a St. Louis stove; buys Irish potatoes grown in Michigan and canned fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices; claps on his old wool hat made in Philadelphia, puts New York harness on a Missouri mule, fed on Iowa corn and plows his farm, covered with a Massachusetts mortgage, with an Indiana plow.

"At night he crawls under a New Jersey blanket and is kept awake by a Louisiana dog, the only home product on the place, and wonders why he keeps so poor.

MORAL—Patronize home industries, spend your money where it will give you a market for what you grow, and thus make money and increase the value of your farm. This is public spirit and the highest form of Patriotism."

RURAL CARRIER EXAM. ANNOUNCED

As a result of the recent resignation of C. W. Roler, carrier of Rural Mail Route No. 6, out of this city, and the resignation of Claude Andrew, of Route No. 2, Bloomingburg, the United States Civil Service Commission has arranged for an examination in this city to be held March 25, 1916, to fill the vacancies and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in Fayette county.

The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

"MOVIN' TIME" IS AT HAND ONCE MORE

"Movin' time" is here. March first is generally conceded and almost universally observed as the time when tenants move to newly leased farms, and already this change is well under way, although in many instances has been greatly retarded by the condition of the public roads.

Within the next two weeks virtually all spring moving will have taken place, and the tenants will settle down in their new homes.

CONDITION OF ROADS IMPROVING

The condition of the county highways is very much improved since the cessation of the rain and the return of freezing weather. Most of the water has disappeared and the roads are being worn down in most places so that they are fairly passable, although the deep scars are still apparent, and return of rainy weather is expected to see them in very bad condition again.

"BIG BERTHA" WINS BATTLE FOR TEUTONS

Grand Finale of Sunday School
Basket Ball League a Delight to Many—Baptists Overwhelmed By the Teutonic All Stars in Fast Game.

Nearly 70 persons enjoyed the banquet of the Sunday school basket ball league, held at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening, and a large crowd witnessed the defeat of the Baptists at the hands of the German All Stars in one of the best basket ball games of the season.

The banquet was one long to be remembered by those who enjoyed it. Mr. W. W. Hamilton, president of the league, was master of the ceremonies, and a number of interesting toasts followed the banquet, after which all partook of grape juice from the loving cup which each team had sought to win. A "German Band" led the Germans on to the field of battle.

Just before the game the loving cup was presented and then the battle was on, with Captains Petersen and Schlachbach eager for the fray, and Haines, of Bloomingburg, refereeing.

The first half was closely contested by each side, and at the close of the half the Teutons had 17 and the Baptists 14.

The second half was full of tip-top plays on the part of some of the Germans, but when Schlachbach, the "Big Bertha" of the Teutonic forces once got the range, he hurled ball after ball among the ranks of the Baptists, who were so demoralized that only 22 points were made while the Teutons boosted their 17 points up to 46, Schlachbach playing a star game and making 24 of the 46 points. Johnson played a star game for the Baptists.

The line ups were—Baptists: Smith and Smith, forwards; Johnson, center and Peterson and Willis, guards.

German All Stars—Forwards, Schlachbach and Hays; center, Sturgeon; Guards, Burnett, Patton and Strevey.

The "Bums" and "Roughnecks" also played a game, the Roughnecks winning and the score standing 25 to 20. Baker refereed this game. The game was a little the roughest some of the spectators had witnessed for sometime.

The "Battles of a Nation," which will be presented in Washington, D. C., under the auspices of The Herald, for one day, Saturday, March 4th, at The Empire theater, 10 and 20 cents admission, shows the vast stretches of battlefields and the horrors and havoc wrought by mammoth cannon and rifle.

The battlefields of Przemyśl, Lemberg, Warsaw, East Prussia and the Carpathian Mountains, are shown while millions of men were engaged in the conflict. In the bombardment of Warsaw, the pictures show the result of the heavy artillery fire and the subsequent invasion of the city by the German army. Thousands of the enemy are made prisoners, while the roads are filled with refugees fleeing from the fated city—a panic stricken people—many of whom drove their live stock ahead of the terrified throng.

The Departure of Diaz

If the alarming surmises regarding the rather precipitate departure of General Felix Diaz from New Orleans Monday, for Cuba, should prove to be, to any considerable extent, correct then the United States is in for another era, during which turmoil, lawlessness and anarchy in Mexico will be patiently watched.

Felix Diaz is a nephew of the former president and dictator of Mexico, who for nearly a score of years ruled with an iron hand and maintained order, something that no one has accomplished since his overthrow by the Madero revolution. Closely allied with Huerta in all his intrigues and plots against the Madero regime, Felix Diaz has been, since the appearance of the figure of the old Indian, Huerta, on the horizon as a dominant figure in Mexico, quite prominent in Mexican disorders.

So far he has demonstrated no particular force as a leader of men and has shone more by the reflection of his powerful uncle than as a result of any achievements of his own.

Alarmists report that Diaz will go at once to Oaxaca, the only Mexican state which holds aloof from the Carranza de facto government, where a large armed force will be placed at his disposal. With that force as a nucleus it is prophesied that he will soon rally to his support an army of more than twenty-five thousand men, mostly Indians, and lead a revolt against Carranza.

Judging from the past record of Diaz, the predictions as to his future seem to be founded more on the fear of those who want permanent peace in Mexico and upon the hopes of his followers who would enrich themselves at the expense of the Mexican people, than upon any substantial basis.

It is impossible, though, to foretell what may happen in Mexico. General "Felix" may be used as a figure head by deeper and more designing men to lead a new revolution. With a great many Mexicans, especially the more influential classes, the name "Diaz" is a power and the departure from the United States of the nephew of the old time ruler may mark the beginning of more serious trouble in the stricken and south of the Rio Grande.

Russia's New Trouble

A new problem has arisen to plague Russia. Last summer the armies of the Czar suffered cruelly from a lack of arms and ammunition. After having forced their way by dint of real fighting and genuine generalship, far into Prussia and Austria, the Russian troops were compelled to retreat until all the captured ground had been lost and until Russian Poland and great sections of Russia proper as far east as Riga had fallen into the hands of the central powers.

Experts attributed these retreats and the loss of these vast stretches of territory to the lack of arms and ammunition.

Russia, since the retreats of last summer began, has been using every means to prevent a recurrence of disasters on that account. Japan and America were contracted with to supply the much needed ammunition and arms. Contracts, the amount of which challenge the imagination have been placed and now the goods contracted for are arriving at Vladivostok, Russia's main seaport, in such quantities that they cannot be taken care of. News reports tell us that from fifty to twenty-five vessels are at anchor in the icy harbor of Vladivostok waiting to be unloaded. The inability of the government to handle the supplies is costing the Russians tremendous sums, sometimes as much as fifteen hundred dollars a day on single vessels.

The great trans-Siberian railroad is not equipped to rush supplies to the armies in the field. Indeed, it cannot take care of its own contracted for equipment. One American firm is contracted to and has built four hundred locomotives but is only able to deliver fifty. The warehouses and docks are crowded to much more than capacity and still the vessels wait to be unloaded while others are arriving. Russia's very immensity seems to be proving one of her greatest handicaps in this war.

Poetry For Today

THE BRAVE AND TRUE
Oh! Brave and true! You who can march away
With measured tread, beneath your colors gay;
Feeling the warmth of kiss so lately pressed,
The throb of loving heart against your breast;
Knowing not what may be your dole of pain
Before those clinging arms draw close again.
Hark! The drum rolls, the trumpet blares its call,
Forward! forget! forget, oh heart! thy all!

Oh! Brave and true! You who can crouch so still
In ambush there below the beetling hill;
The soft breeze stirs your hair and fills your eyes,
As slow you raise them to the darkening skies.
What horror grip you, that, your latest breath
May swift be choked in the fierce clutch of death!
Wild love of life hot surges through your brain,
When home—love—all are blotted out in pain.

Oh! Brave and true, who lie beneath the sky,
Your anguish over, drawn your last deep sigh;
No more shall cannon smoke hot sear your eyes,
While rolling thunder drowns your dying cries.
No more shall feverish torture fill the brain,
And wasted hand clutch the hot brow in vain;
So still you lie, bathed in the moon's cool light,
On the field's breast, blood-drench'd and dim with night!

Oh! Brave and true, you who can love and give,
And far away must only blindly live,
Through wide black days of agony and fear,
In chill dark nights too deep for sob or tear;
Hours, days, nights, weeks, dumb-stricken in your woe,
As mutely through your homely tasks you go.
Each sound swift chills your blood—Oh! Woman, you,
You—Wives and Mothers, are the brave and true!
—H. C. Baker, in The People's Home Journal.

FRENCH SHIP SUNK

Nearly a Thousand Persons Believed to Have Perished.

Paris, March 1.—The transatlantic liner La Provence, which has been used as a French auxiliary liner since the outbreak of the war, was sunk in the Mediterranean with a loss of about 930 lives. The announcement of the loss of the big liner, which was known as "The Queen of the Seas," before the coming of the Lusitania and Mauretania, was made by the minister of marine. It was also stated that there were about 1,800 persons on board the ship at the time of the sinking and 870 of these are known to have been saved. About 400 of these have been landed on the Greek island of Melos and 295 have been landed at Malta.

The cause of the sinking of the big vessel is unknown, as the statement of the minister of marine merely stated that she was sunk. Submarines of the central powers have been active recently in the Mediterranean, however, and it is possible that a torpedo ended the career of La Provence. The sinking is said to have occurred far out in the sea. It is probable the vessel was carrying troops to Salonica or transporting soldiers on sick leave en route back to France.

"I proposed to Arthur Monday night," said Miss Forester. "I thought he was afraid to 'pop the question,' so I did it for him."

Cape Town once lived under so severe a code of sumptuary laws that anything like display was restricted to the governor and his immediate circle. Thus runs article 6 of the Dutch laws against luxury and ostentation: "No one less in rank than a junior merchant and those among the citizens of equal rank and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas." In practice this restricted the possession and use of umbrellas to about fifty persons in Cape Town.

Invest your money where it will grow. This advertisement is to start you thinking. WE ARE IN THE HEART OF THE DISTRICT. We have our farms listed at the very lowest prices and let it be deeply and everlastingly burned in your memory that we do not add $5 to $15 per acre to our list prices as our profit. Meditate upon the importance of this. Our home territory includes the southern half of Clinton and Warren and the northern portions of Brown and Clermont counties. We have good, and HOG CHOLERA and FOOT and MOUTH DISEASE are unknown. For STOCK RAISING and Dairying they have no peer. Can you resist the temptation? Two of our very large farms have been sold to Fayette county people within the last month; the buyers were men who have had years of experience in farm life. Is their judgment worth anything to you? Put on your hat and come NOW and be your own judge. Don't go elsewhere, get less and pay more. We have any size from one to three hundred acres. We would be pleased to show you.

A KNOCKOUT FOR "OLD 'UNS"

(By American Press)

Chicago, March 1.—In the bitterest and most hotly contested aldermanic primaries in Chicago in many years, Mayor William Hale Thompson was unsuccessful in his efforts to defeat the "rebel nine," which has fought him at every turnout of the city council. The mayor was elected eleven months ago by a plurality of 147,000 votes. He won yesterday in only two of the nine wards in which he had mobilized the full forces of the city hall to fight Republican aldermen who were running for reform.

Sweeping victories for Roger Sullivan's followers marked the contests in the Democratic primaries. The Sullivan candidates were nominated over the Dunne-Harrison forces in 27 of the 35 wards. The election was marked by many brawls and riot calls from the river wards especially were numerous.

LOCAL MEN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF CATTLE

Reward of $200 Offered for Apprehension of Men Who Stole Four Cattle Near Bainbridge Last November, Leads to Indictment of Sam Whited and Miles Holly — Mystery Still Surrounds Theft.

Acting upon advice received from the Sheriff of Pike county, Chief of Police D. L. Moore Tuesday night arrested Sam Whited, white, and Miles Holly, colored, of this city, and Wednesday morning the men were taken to Waverly to answer to indictments charging grand larceny the charge growing out of the disappearance of four head of cattle from the Cameron Sisters' place, near Bainbridge, on the 20th day of last November.

For the past three months detectives and police officers of a number of cities have been working on the case, and it is understood that Attorney Lee Rankin and Chief of Police D. L. Moore have obtained the bulk of the evidence in the case, although at the present time they decline to discuss the matter.

The cattle in question were stolen from the Cameron Sisters who had the animals on pasture on the W. M. Ferneau farm, and when no trace of them could be found, the women offered $200 reward for the "arrest and conviction of the party securing or disposing of these cattle."

One of the animals was a four-year-old cow, one a three-year-old heifer and the other two were two-year-old steers. They were black Angus, and were last seen in the pasture of M. W. Ferneau on the 20th of November.

The $200 reward offered started the police of many cities at work, and, obtaining evidence that cattle answering the description were seen near this city, and that it was claimed Miles Holly was driving the animals, Chief Moore and Mr. Rankin, the latter said to be representing the Cameron sisters of Bainbridge, made further search, with the result that when the grand jury met in Pike county a few days ago, both men went to Waverly. The indictment followed.

Mr. Whited claims innocence of the charge, and has retained Gregg, Patton & Gregg to represent him. Mr. Pope Gregg accompanying him to Waverly. Bond was offered in this city in late amount.

Holly obtained Attorneys Troy Junk and J. T. Oatneal to represent him, while Rankin & Rankin will assist in prosecuting the case. It is claimed that Holly does not deny that he drove cattle answering the description, but does deny that the stole any cattle, or had guilty knowledge of any such deal.

It is not known whether the stolen cattle were sold in this city, slaughtered here, or shipped from Bloomingburg to Pittsburg.

Mystery still surrounds the alleged connection of Mr. Whited with the missing cattle.

It is rumored, in connection with the affair, that other indictments or arrests may occur, and that the matter is liable to take a decidedly sensational turn within the next few days. For this reason those who are in possession of the facts, or alleged facts, will make no statement at the present time.

When arraigned before the Court in Pike county, the men intended entering pleas of not guilty.

been in wretched health and during the winter has been confined to his home. The death summons came shortly after three o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Olinger was 57 years old and is survived by a wife and eight children; George, residing in Millwood; Carl, in Columbus; Mrs. Henry Engle, southwest of town and Roy, Ima, Wilbur, Homer and Opal at home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m., at the Mt. Olive church. Burial will be made in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

PARENT-TEACHER CLUB ORGANIZED

A Parents-Teachers Club for the Central Schools was organized at a meeting held in the High School auditorium, Tuesday night, the following officers being chosen:

President, Geo. H. Hitchcock; vice president, Mrs. Herbert Brownell; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Corda McCafferty. Dr. C. W. Sadders, Dr. Neil B. Jines and Miss Clara Haines were appointed executive committee and are preparing for a rousing meeting on March 22, to which all parents and teachers in the city are invited.

A charming program was rendered Tuesday night, by Miss Teeters' pupils.

The Fourth Wednesday night of each month is to be the regular meeting night.

Tonight all parents and teachers are invited to attend the Cherry Hill meeting. Supt. McClain and Dr. C. W. Sadders will speak.

PEARL STREET WILL BE OPENED IN NEAR FUTURE

AS a result of a decision handed down by the Court of Appeals, the city will soon begin condemnation proceeding against the B. & O. railroad to obtain a grade crossing over the B. & O. tracks at Pearl street.

The Appellate court sustained the decision of the Common pleas court, which held that the city was entitled to a crossing at Pearl street.

It will be recalled that the city filed action to obtain consent of the court for a grade crossing, and when the court decided in favor of the city, the Railroad carried the case up on error. The appellate court found that the finding of the lower court were findings of fact and not reviewable.

No motion for a new trial having been made by the Railroad company, the decision of the appellate court is final.

The next step will be condemnation proceedings so that the price of the ground may be fixed by jury, and the crossing made accordingly. This will be done unless the railroad takes action which will not necessitate such proceedings.

Within the next few months the crossing will, in all probability, be in use.

MORE TERRITORY IS TRANSFERRED

Gamble and West Holland Sub-Districts Are Now Part of New Holland School District—Board to Reorganize March 18.

The chief argument before the County Board of Education, Tuesday afternoon when that body met in regular monthly session, was the transfer of the Gamble and West Holland school districts to New Holland school district and after much argument for and against the proposal, the transfer was made by four to one vote.

T. T. Turner, of the Marion county board of education, was opposed to the plan unless Marion township schools were centralized, in such case he thought the transfer would then be practical. Geo. Kirk argued strongly for the transfer, and the transfer was made accordingly, being the fourth or fifth transfer of school territory made from Fayette county to adjoining counties.

This action removed Mr. Turner from the county board, of which he was a member, by reason of being president of the Marion Township Board.

The appointment of H. T. Hughes to the vacancy caused by the removal of C. L. Anders then was made, the binding vote standing three for Hughes, one for one of the other District Superintendents, and one blank. The roll call on the proposal was unanimous. Hughes' time expires in August, 1917.

The board then adjourned until March 18th, when the reorganization of the board will occur.

BROWNELL ELECTED STATE PRESIDENT

At the fourth annual convention of the Ohio Butter, Egg and Poultry Producers' Association, held in Cleveland, Tuesday, Herbert Brownell, of this city, was elected president of the association for the coming year. C. J. Moore of Cleveland was elected vice president, and O. I. Clevenger, of Martin was chosen secretary-treasurer. About 150 members of the association attended the meeting.

A new preserving process for keeping eggs in splendid condition was exhibited before the association, and is expected to revolutionize the keeping of eggs.

Eggs treated under the new process last April were broken and examined, and were in an almost perfect state of preservation.

TABERNACLE SERVICES

There was much interest at the Sunnyside Tabernacle meetings Tuesday night. After a spirited song service and a beautiful solo, "Face to Face" by Miss Daisy Cockerill, Evangelist Willhite preached a sermon on "The Funeral of the Soul."

Following an exhortation urging people to start on the new life twelve came forward, increasing the total number to 825.

It was announced that Rev. John

L. Dalbey and Evangelist Willhite will speak tonight and Rev. G. E. Groves and Evangelist Willhite Thursday night.

Many are looking forward to next Sunday, "Jubilee Day," with much interest. The farmers of Fayette county who cannot attend the tabernacle meeting in the daytime will have an opportunity to hear Evangelist Willhite Sunday afternoon. There will be song service at two p. m. and preaching at 2:30 and song service and preaching Sunday night.

INTEREST DEEPENS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Tuesday night meeting at the First Presbyterian church was marked by growing interest and several were received into the church at the close of the service.

Rev. Shaw threw himself with power into one of the strongest sermons of his series, his text, Matt. 1:21. Thou shalt call his name Jesus for he shall save his people from their sins.

The greatness of man is wonderfully depicted in the 8th psalm. Man will bear contrast with anything but God. He is great in God's consideration of him. God is always represented as knocking at the door of man's heart for admission. Even in ruins he shows something of his former greatness and glory.

In speaking of man as a great sinner, Dr. Shaw said:

"If man is a big sinner there is a big salvation provided for him. Wesley facing the mob with the blood flowing down his face, Luther at the Diet of Worms during the cruelty of Medaeval Rome, attests it. The cross of Christ in this grand old book is the only hope of the world."

In Social Circles

The art department, Mrs. Frances Junk chairman, put on a splendid Browning club program Tuesday night.

It was introduced by a very attractive number, Miss Roxie Stinson singing, to her own accompaniment, the popular Irish song, "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Mrs. P. J. Hennessy gave an intensely interesting talk on "National Parks," a number of which she has personally visited.

There are 14 of these parks west of the Rockies; one park in the very heart of these mountains. Mrs. Hennessy made particularly graphic her description of Yellowstone National Park, with its wonderful geyser fields, pools of boiling water; scenic beauties and wild animals roaming at large.

There are 28 active geysers, beautiful in color and form, and the pools of boiling water show colors of wonderful iridescent tints, changing greatly when but a few feet apart.

The "Old Faithful Inn," made from natural wood of the "Knotty forest," is one of the many places of special interest.

The club was indebted to Mrs. Jesse Blackmer for one of the finest papers of the year on "The Panama-Pacific exposition," which she visited.

Mrs. Blackmer gave a magnificent description of the palaces of the exposition, located on the bay of San Francisco and resembling a city on the Mediterranean. The Horticultural building of the French, Renaissance in style; the Festival hall, in French theater design; the Tower of Jewels, set with 102,000 movagems; The Palace of Fine Arts, built in the form of a semi-circle, separated from the other buildings by a lagoon—all added to the picturesque and foreign effect.

Mrs. Blackmer laid stress upon the great beauty of the coloring, old ivory, simulating Travertine marble; as a background for Nile green, dull orange, pastel reds and cerulean blue in the light domes.

The soft mellowed shades of the buildings formed with the green of the grass, the blue of sky and bay, the bright flowers, a marvelous picture.

All nations, even the warring ones exhibited, but the most unusual thing about the exposition was its profit of two million dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dahl entertained at a six o'clock dinner of perfect appointments Tuesday night.

The table was a picture, a very beautiful water garden, its flowers a variety of exquisite pastel shades, the center piece amidst sparkling silver and crystal candles gleaming beneath rose colored shades.

The dinner was an elaborate affair of numerous courses and the favors quite unique.

Mrs. Dahl, a particularly charming and gracious hostess, was wearing a handsome gown of gray charmeuse, with transparent sleeves and trimming of pointe lace and silver.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rogers, Dr. Lucy Pine, Miss Mary Craig, Misses Gertrude and Edith Gardner, Miss Minnie Light, Mr. E. J. Light.

Miss Lel Lanum was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the meeting of the Cecilian club.

Mrs. Lona G. Hughey introduced a very attractive program with two beautiful soprano solos, (a) "The Star;" (b) "At Parting," James Rodgers.

Miss Jessie Leavell sang "Santa Marie," Saure, effectively and Mrs. Mary Burgetts contralto showed to advantage in "Mid Summer Dreams"—Guy d'Hardelot.

There were two sparkling piano numbers—Miss Mable Briggs playing "Gondoliers," Moritd Moszkowski; and Miss Light, Op-9-No. 2 Polish Dance—Scharwenka.

Mrs. Minnie W. Shoop and Mrs. Margaret Stitt accompanied the singers.

Miss May Millikan and Miss Marie Lanum were guests.

The Cecilians expect to give a complimentary recital at the First Baptist church in the near future.

Mr. Roy B. Williams, formerly of this city, and now a prominent attorney of Athens, was united in marriage to Miss Byard Van McConihay of Pittsburg, Pa., on December the sixteenth, the marriage announced for the first time this week.

The announcement will be of interest to Mr. Williams' many friends in this city.

The Daughters of Rebekah are planning to give a Leap Year St. Patrick's dance at the I. O. O. F. Hall on March the ninth.

The second recital of the spring series was given Tuesday afternoon at Conservatory Hall by Louise Fenner, Dorothy Dunlap and Dorothy Donohoe; Marjorie Sparks being prevented by illness from taking part.

True piano work, careful rhythm and poise were the marked features of the renditions of the little pupils.

Ralph Lloyd, Dorothy Post and Helen Lemmons varied the hour with songs and readings, after which interested friends enjoyed a merry hour.

The next recital will be given Tuesday, March 14th, by Ralph Lloyd.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church will hold a market at Hughley's confectionery next Saturday. All kinds of home made eatables will be on sale.

REQUESTS A VOTE ON RESOLUTIONS

Wilson Asks Congress to Take Up Submarine Issue.

WRITES A LETTER TO POW

President Declares That Reports of Division Among Solons In Regard to the Administration's Foreign Policy
Is Being Made Use of In European Capitals—Note Held a Challenge to Congress.

Washington, March 1.—In a letter to the chairman of the rules committee of the house, President Wilson virtually asks the house for a vote of confidence.

The president urges an early vote on the resolutions now pending which warn Americans from traveling on armed merchant vessels.

The president in this letter declares that "the report that there are divided counsels in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals." He expresses the belief that the report is false, and adds that "so long as it is anywhere credited it can not fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks."

The president thus has thrown down every barrier against the public discussion of foreign affairs in congress, and has in fact invited a frank and full exchange of views on the administration's record. The challenge from the president will mark the opening of a debate in congress, which is likely to be one of the most spirited that has taken place in years.

What the outcome will be is now, of course, a matter of mere speculation, as many unexpected events may intervene to influence the sentiment of congress before the resolution is brought to a vote. At present, though, the administration is confident of victory in both houses of congress, and it seems fairly certain to unbiased observers that those who are opposing the administration will not be able to control a majority of votes in the senate, even if they succeed in pushing a resolution through the house. Speaker Clark and Leader Kitchin predicted last week that the house would vote two to one in favor of such legislation.

Wilson's Letter.

The president's letter follows:

My dear Mr. Pow:

Inasmuch as I learn that Mr. Henry, the chairman of the committee on rules, is absent in Texas, I take the liberty of calling your attention, as ranking member of the committee, to a matter of grave concern to the country, which can, I believe, be handled, under the rules of the house, only by that committee.

The report that there are divided counsels in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals. I believe that report to be false, but so long as it is anywhere credited it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks. I therefore feel justified in asking that your committee will permit me to urge an early vote upon the resolutions with regard to travel on armed merchantmen which have recently been so much talked about, in order that there may be afforded an immediate opportunity for full public discussion and action upon them and that all doubts and conjectures may be swept away and our foreign relations once more cleared of damaging misunderstandings.

The matter is of so grave importance and lies so clearly within the field of executive initiative that I venture to hope that your committee will not think that I am taking unwarranted liberty in making this suggestion as to the business of the house, and I very earnestly commend it to their immediate consideration.

Challenge to Congress.

In throwing down the challenge to congress President Wilson was actuated by the following considerations:

First, believing that a test of strength on this issue was inevitable sooner or later, the president selected the present as the most opportune time. He apparently felt that the administration's strength in congress on this issue would be greater now than on the verge of a possible crisis.

Second, charged with responsibility for the conduct of foreign affairs, the president desired an immediate decision as to whether he was to be left with a free hand in this matter, or whether his efforts were to be handicapped by further interference on the part of congress.

Third, the president decided that an immediate challenge was the only way to end the impression which the Berlin authorities have obtained that he lacks the support of the country in the conduct of his submarine negotiations.

The president has unwittingly complicated the situation by appealing to the rules committee for action. This committee can not act in the way the president desires without going over the head of the committee on foreign affairs of the house, before which the armed merchantmen resolutions are pending. The president's ignoring of the foreign affairs committee already has aroused resentment among the members of that committee.

NEGRO SEGREGATION

(By American Press.)

St. Louis, March 1.—Ordinances providing for the segregation of negroes in separate blocks from the whites in St. Louis, voted on here, were carried by a vote of about 3 to 1. The total vote cast was nearly 75,000. Two ordinances were voted on, one providing that a white person or negro can not become a resident in a block occupied entirely by those of the opposite color. The other imposes the same restrictions on a block of 75 per cent of one color. The ordinance, become effective in ten days unless an injunction is applied for, which is almost a certainty.

Fostoria, O., March 1.—Victor Gauthier, business agent of the Toledo Machinists' union, was here seeking an adjustment of the trouble which caused the Atlas Manufacturing company, manufacturers of automobile crank shafts, to lock out its employees. It is said that employees recently organized against the wishes of the company.

THE MOTION PICTURE SCOOP OF THE WAR

If you like REAL things you will like "THE BATTLES OF A NATION," for never was anything MORE REAL than these war pictures EXCEPT WAR ITSELF.

The series of scenes in the actual battle zone are the last word in the screen. They are a complete triumph of the motion picture art.

It is not a picture made many, many months ago during maneuvers or taken from so-called weekly news films, but it is NEWSY in every respect. Its like has never been seen in Washington before—nor ever will be.

TILSON DELIVERS DEFENSE SPEECH

Says Country Is Sadly In Need of Guns and Munitions.

Washington, March 1.—"The entire capacity of the government for the manufacture of field artillery ammunition makes it possible to fire each gun every other day, or on an average of three times a week," was the comment by Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, a minority member of the committee on military affairs. In comparison with this prospective showing Mr. Tilson said that in the European war one gun has been fired as many as 1,000 times in 4 days.

The situation of the United States army regarding the supply of rifles was likewise described in startling terms by the Connecticut member. At the present rate of outfit, he said, the army of 1,000,000 men which William J. Bryan once suggested could be raised between sunrise and sunset could be equipped with rifles in about five years.

Mr. Tilson delivered a preparedness speech urging his bill providing that the government shall manufacture in large quantities the jigs, gauges and appliances used in making rifles, field pieces and projectiles. He recommended the storing of such machinery for use in war time, arguing that it would be immediately turned over to private factories, which would be equipped forthwith to turn out standard government rifles and ammunition.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad, by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood Helen makes a spectacular double rescue of Storm, now a freight fireman, and of her father and his friends. Amos Rhineland, financier, and Robert Seagru, promoter, from a threatened collision between a passenger train and a runaway freight. Safebreakers employed by Seagru and Capelle, his lawyer, interrupted by Helen while stealing General Holmes' survey plans of the cut-off line for the Tidewater, fatally wound General Holmes and escape. Storm and Helen chase the murderers on a light engine and capture them. Spike has hidden the plans and manages to inform Seagru where they are cached. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Seagru helps Spike to break jail and uses him to get to a powder train hauled by Storm's engine. Helen saves Storm from a horrible death.

Her wits rapidly cleared. She snatched the photograph. Seagru, opening the door, caught her, picture in hand. He walked forward pleased. It was not hard for Helen to counterfeited an embarrassment; nor was it in the least unbecoming to her. To Seagru her look came like a burst of sunshine after many chilling storms. "What do you think of my construction headquarters?" he laughed.

Helen's gaze rested modestly on her table. She seemed to contemplate the picture with a quiet pleasure. Then she looked slowly up at Seagru. "This doesn't show very much of the camp," she drawled the words the very least bit—"you are awfully busy over there, I suppose."

"Never too busy to welcome our friends. Come over sometime."

"What, to a construction camp?" asked Helen, feigning just enough amazement.

"Why not? Talk about Rhineland's steam shovels! I'll show you shovels that can do everything but vote. Come on along."

For an effective moment she hesitated. "I couldn't possibly," she declared with decision, but she allowed a note of regret to linger an instant in the tone of her explanation and glanced around. "No one here, you know."

"Well but what time do you get off?" asked Seagru feverishly. "Oh, not for a long time yet." His hopes were burgeoning fast. "See here, Helen; come over and take a camp dinner with me. Come, do. I'll show you what can be done without preparation."

She regarded him with an expression that indicated how completely such a proposal shocked her. She struggled an instant with the thought of it. Then she rejected the invitation; yet with enough indecision to invite a renewal. For the moment Helen was a heartless angler, and Seagru deluded by vanity was unsuspectingly playing fish. Before he left—in the highest spirits he had known for many a day—he had, to his astonishment, secured Helen's promise to dine with him that night in camp. And at the appointed time she was ready.

The night was warm and a moon, rising full and into a clear sky, flooded the landscape. And after Helen's uneasiness at the strangeness of her situation had worn off, she was able throughout the trying hour with Seagru in his hut to wear her mask of languid interest successfully. The table was served with surprising delicacies and a plentiful array of wines was in evidence. Yet, to an innocent intriguer, a whole hour never went so slowly, nor was appetite ever more reluctant than that of Seagru's guest. Though she went through the form of eating and assumed a carefree air, his food choked her. His wines she persistently declined; but that did not dismay Seagru. He drank quite enough for two.

Where could the survey be, now? was the question recurring always to Helen's mind. Toward the close of the dinner, Seagru, rising, unlocked his desk for a flask of Chartreuse. There, lying in the corner exactly where she had seen it, Helen again beheld the survey, a blue print beside it. Seagru was pawky enough to close and lock the desk after he had taken the flask out. How, she asked herself, was she to get that desk open again?

Seagru dismissed his serving man, and this did not allay Helen's uneasiness for herself. She did not want (To be continued)

UNDERSEA ORDER IS NOW IN FORCE

Result of Sub Raids May Precipitate Crisis.

ANXIETY AT WASHINGTON

Attitude of the American Government Toward the New Policy of Germany and Austria Not Yet Determined. State Department Officials Awaiting Arrival of Appendices to the Berlin Memorandum.

Washington, March 1.—Results of the new Austro-German submarine campaign, launched last midnight, against armed merchant ships of the entente allies, are awaited by the American government with grave concern. Although under the new instructions Teutonic naval commanders are authorized to sink without warning all armed enemy merchantmen, they have been told to make sure if possible that no American citizens are aboard any ship attacked. Furthermore, in the latest communication regarding submarine warfare, Germany has assured the United States that the new orders are so formulated as to prevent the destruction of enemy liners "on account of their armament unless such armament is proved."

The attitude of the United States government toward the new policy of Germany and Austria has not been definitely determined. President Wilson discussed the subject in a conference with Secretary Lansing and then laid the German communication before his cabinet. Later it was said that because the all-important appendices to the German memorandum had been delayed in transit, the state department thus far was unable to determine whether claims set forward by Germany and Austria in justification of their course were sustained.

Meanwhile, if any American citizen is injured during the attack by a submarine on a merchant ship which does not and has no intention of using its armament otherwise than defensively, a grave situation will arise.

The United States stands at this time, as it has always done, for the right of American citizens to travel with safety on defensively armed ships. If the German contentions are sustained, however, and it is proved conclusively that a ship upon which an American may be injured, used defensive armament for purposes of offense, it is considered unlikely that this government will take any action.

MINERS WILL SCALE DOWN

Make First Concession at the New York Conference.

New York, March 1.—The United Mine Workers of America, who are endeavoring to negotiate a new wage contract for the soft coal fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, made their first material concession, offering to scale down their 10 per cent per ton increase for miners to approximately 6 per cent net on the mine run basis. In the western Pennsylvania territory, however, the net advance now asked by the miners amounts to about 12 per cent, as in that field the miners insist upon first raising the mine run rate to the Ohio basic price and then adding 6 per cent.

The 10 per cent increase asked for dead work and yardage and the 20 per cent advance for men employed by the day, have not yet been considered and probably will not be taken up until an agreement is reached on the mining rate.

The miners said after the meetings of the joint subcommittee of employers and employees that the new figures they have presented are rock-bottom prices and will not be reduced further. The new schedule offered by the miners would add 3 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and 5.39 cents in western Pennsylvania.

THE FIRST ONE

(By American Press)

Chicago, March 1.—The first presidential nomination by referendum has been inaugurated by the Socialist party. Voting begins today. By March 5 the ballots will have been cast and by March 10 the complete vote will be recorded in the headquarters of the party in Chicago. The following are candidates for the presidency: Allen L. Benson, Yonkers, N. Y.; Arthur L. E. Suer, Minot, N. D.; James H. Maurer, Reading, Pa. The candidates for nomination for vice president are: George H. Kirkpatrick, Newark, N. J., and Kate Richards O'Hare, St. Louis.

SOUNDS BAD

(By American Press)

Washington, March 1.—The inclusion in the rivers and harbors bill of a $700,000 appropriation for the improvement of the East river, New York, the only new project in the budget, caused the Republican members of the house rivers and harbors committee to file a minority report, alleging that this item represents "plain political favoritism." The report says no pressing emergency exists for the appropriation, "that politics and not preparedness is the cause of the exception in favor of the East river."

IN LOW GEAR FOR A WHILE

(By American Press)

Columbus, March 1.—Because congress may decide on some step that will have an important bearing on the wet and dry issue in Ohio, the meeting of the trustees of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league and the dry county chairmen, held here, adjourned without taking action on the question of submission for 1916. Instead resolutions were adopted which recited, among other things, congress has before it the proposal to submit national prohibition to the states. In the event congress submits such proposal, the entire strength of the temperance forces of Ohio will be engaged in the selection and election of a legislature, this fall which will ratify the proposal. There were about 200 dry workers present.

GOOD HOPE INSTITUTE BIG SUCCESS

Eighteenth Annual Farmers' Institute and Corn Show, Ideally Successful and Instructive. Ends Under Most Happy Conditions.

The eighteenth annual Farmers' Institute, held in Wayne Hall, Good Hope, closed a two days' session of interest from start to finish, Tuesday night, with a splendid concert given by price's Orchestra assisted by Miss Esther Leland, reader.

The institute and corn show were both markedly successful and once more brought to the front the progressive activity of Good Hope farmers and their ability to do things.

The institute officers were: President, Frank E. Haines; vice president, Harve Smalley; Secretary, Hugh B. Sollars; Treasurer, Hugh Rodgers. Executive committee: Mrs. A. S. Stemler, Mrs. John Weade, Mrs. John York, Corn committee: Art B. Clifton, Jesse Blackmore, Russ B. McCoy, A. H. Taylor, Glenn Wilson.

The attendance of Tuesday was very large and the entire program moved off smoothly.

One of the most important features of the day was the passing of resolutions following a splendid talk by Mr. Frank M. Kennedy on the "Two Mill Road Levy." Mr. Kennedy so impressed the immense advantage to Wayne township which would result from the farmers co-operating with the county commissioners in improving roads and making their apportionment do double duty.

Resolutions were passed to that effect and a meeting will be held by Wayne township farmers in the near future to perfect plans for the most efficient method of co-operation.

State speakers J. W. Hammond and Frank Blackford took up the subjects of "Horse Feeding and the Business Farmer," in capable addresses.

Prof. T. H. Everhart made one of the finest talks of the institute on "The Mission of the Public School."

A notable feature of the session was the Single Tax discussion, which followed the address by Mr. E. W. Doty, ardent Single Tax advocate. Hon. Frank C. Parrett took up the cudgel against Mr. Doty and, always a fluent speaker, presented a logical train of argument, met by hearty applause which showed that the audience was with him.

Price's orchestra contributed to the afternoon program as well as in the evening's concert. Miss Esther Leland was most enthusiastically received, her varied and entertaining repertoire delighting her listeners.

The Women's program of Monday afternoon was highly interesting, with Mrs. Willson, the state speaker. Miss Helen McCoy, Miss Mary Holdren, gave attractive readings; Mrs. John York, a paper, and Miss Stella West, Misses Margaret Stemler and Jeanette Walker, beautiful piano numbers.

The art display, confined to work of the past year, was beautiful; two features of the domestic science the exhibits of Good Hope and Cisco schools and the children's work.

The state allowance was an assistance in offering premiums.

BREAKFAST GIVEN FOR YOUNGSTERS

Some fifteen youngsters who are attending the East End School and who for various reasons are in such needy circumstances that they have not had sufficient food to nourish them, and who have clothing barely sufficient to clothe them, are now receiving a light breakfast each morning before they enter upon their duties for the day.

The expense is being borne by the Browning Club, and from contributions generally.

Some idea of the work being done may be gleaned when it is known that a prominent citizen recently dropped into the room to see the youngsters get their breakfast, and one little girl, dressed in the poorest of poor wearing apparel, and with a decidedly hungry expression upon her bloodless face, stood near some tempting light rolls, and so hungry was she that time after time the pangs of hunger were so great that unconsciously she reached toward the rolls. However regardless of her eagerness for food, she would not touch the food until it was placed before her to eat.

ENVELOPING STRONGHOLD

(By American Press)

Berlin, March 1.—As the German lines are drawn tighter around Verdun the heavy German guns can wreck the citadel of Verdun, only four miles away, and sweep the bridges over the Meuse above the city itself. The latter are important as they enable the French to keep and hold the south lines of Verdun. These guns also dominate the slopes of the Cote de Lorraine and make easier the German progress against the fortress from the east.

High water in the Meuse has made difficult co-operation between the forces on opposite banks of the river, but the German lines on the west bank are beginning to move forward under cover of heavy artillery fire. The hills are lower than those on the east side of the river, but the fortress line of heavy batteries commands them. Douaumont, on the east side, is 1,200 feet high and commands the entire surrounding region between the highest hill and the Verdun.

STATE RELIC ROOM PASSES FROM CAPITOL

Columbus, O., March 1. — This day marked the passing of the famous state house relic room.

For 24 years the room has been the most distinctive feature in the capitol to hundreds of thousands who visited it. Today it was only a dusty chamber from which the historic curios has been removed to newer quarters. Hereafter it will be the busy offices of a state department filled with the clatter of typewriters and adding machines.

The old relic room has succumbed to the need for more space. The civil service commission will move into it from rented quarters in a private office building, and the collection of mementos has been taken to the state archeological and historical museum on the campus of Ohio State University. The 400 old battle flags carried by Ohio regiments or captured by them in the war of 1812, the Mexican or campaigns of the civil war, will be placed in new steel and glass cases, hermetically sealed, to be arranged in the rotunda of the state house.

Before 1892 the relic room was the supreme court chamber, but when the state house annex was completed in that year the court's headquarters were removed to the new building. Since then, capitol guides estimate, 500,000 visitors have climbed the south staircase leading to the house of representative chamber, and browsed about the relic room. All were requested to sign their names in the huge book kept on the desk of Governor Tiffin, Ohio's first chief executive, in the relic room. These registers have been carefully preserved and inspection of their pages shows scores of well known names.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE."

"The Great Divide," the tremendous success which served as a starring vehicle for Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin for many seasons has been adapted and produced in motion pictures by the Lubin Company with House Peters as Steve Ghent and Ethel Clayton as Ruth Jordan.

The picture was produced on the identical spot which inspired William Vaughan Moody in his writing and abounds with a wealth of marvellous scenic value as well as dramatic acting.

"The Great Divide" will be the attraction at the Empire theater on March 2, Thursday. Admission ten cents. Advt.
